Astrology Chart for 22 September 1924 By Christina Richter

The Spiritualist Church of New Zealand Act was passed on 22 September 1924.

Christina provides her insights on the date ...

The midpoint between the Sun and Moon is located at 18 degrees Leo, with Neptune, the planet associated with spirituality, positioned nearby at 21 degrees Leo. This alignment signifies a fusion of masculine and feminine energies, where the Sun symbolizes the physical body and the Moon represents the Soul body.

Spirituality is governed by Jupiter, which is particularly potent in its own sign, while Neptune in Leo gains strength as it aligns with the North Node, highlighting the soul's purpose within the astrological chart and its close connection to the creative arts. Both artistic and spiritual realms express themes of pleasure and extravagance.

Hygiea, the asteroid representing health and well-being, is the daughter of Asklepios, the Greek god of medicine. She forms a square aspect with Neptune, introducing a practical and holistic healing energy, as she is situated in the earth sign of Taurus.

The Sun is positioned in the healing sign of Virgo, ruled by Mercury, which governs communication and manual skills. Mercury forms a square with Jupiter, emphasizing the need to integrate these energies into the spirituality and philosophy of the body, represented by Earth, where the Sun and Mercury reside, and the spirit, represented by fire, where Jupiter and Neptune are located.
